Discord Pre Hire Chat FAQ

Onboarding Process

What tasks do I need to complete in order to complete the onboarding process?

- After you have accepted your offer, Northrop Grumman's onboarding team will contact you (via email) and will track your progress until you have completed all the required pre-employment tasks.

- Update Regarding Drug Screening for New and Returning Interns: Enterprise-wide, drug screening for minors (under 18 years of age) has been discontinued across the Enterprise. The SCO (Service Center) will be tracking when candidates turn 18 to determine if needed.

  - New Interns – Required to complete the following:
    - Complete before Day 1: Drug Test, Background Investigation, I-9
    - New I-9 Process: Effective November 6th, pre-hires will complete the I-9 requirements virtually with their onboarder using a laptop with a camera, tablet, or mobile device along with Microsoft Teams. This change from the current 'I-9 Anywhere' process will allow us to improve the quality of service to pre-hires by providing personalized scheduling assistance with cost savings to Northrop Grumman.
    - Prep to complete on Day 1: I9 form (if reporting onsite and not completed using the I9 service with onboarding), C-638
    - Gather acceptable documentation for both the I9 form and C-638 form. Acceptable documentation for the I9 form can be found on the U.S Citizenship and Immigration Services website).

  Returning Interns – Required to complete the following:

  Before Day 1: You may be required to complete a refresh of your Drug Test or Background Investigation. Onboarding will reach out via email if this is required.

  - Required if it has been over a year since the intern last worked.

  Prep for Day 1: You will not be required to complete New Employee Orientation again so first day details will come directly from your assignment manager.

  Please note: Timely responses are required for all onboarding tasks

How can I access my pre-employment tasks?

- Access the NG Careers website where you created a profile and applied to a position. Access the "Tasks" tab and follow the prompts to complete your pre-employment tasks and forms. Use the same username and password from when you applied to the position.

I forgot my username/password to get into my careers page

- Please send an email to enterprisetalentplusadmin@ngc.com and they'll be able to help you reset your username/password.

How do I start the Background Investigations & Drug Test?

- Sterling, Northrop Grumman's third party partner, will contact you regarding your background investigation and drug screening. Your drug screen must be completed within three days of completing the online registration. You may be required to do a refresh of one or both of these task closer to your start date. Onboard will send you an email if this needs to be completed.

How will I know that I've completed all my pre-employment tasks?

- Make sure that all your tasks have been completed in your "Tasks" panel on Careers website. Northrop Grumman's onboarding team will contact you and inform you that you are cleared to start.

New Hires: If you have not received an email notification 1 week prior to your estimated start date, please reach out to your sector's onboarding team:

- Aeronautics Systems: ASPP@ngc.com
- Defense Systems and Corporate/ES Employees: TCPP@ngc.com
- Mission Systems: MSPP@ngc.com
- Space Systems: SPPP@ngc.com

Returning/Converting Hires: You will receive first day details directly from your assignment manager usually the week before you start. If you have not received them by the Thursday before your start date, please reach out to your recruiter.

Day 1

How will my first day/orientation work?

- At minimum, your first day will include connecting with your assignment manager, completing relevant paperwork, and logging into your computer and the NG network. Be prepared for administrative and set-up tasks for most of your first day.

New Hires:

- C-638 (if you are reporting to work onsite, you will complete this form with your manager; if you are onboarding remotely, an NEO team member/forms administrator will help you complete your form virtually)

- Badging (if onsite), logging into the NG network using SurePassID (if remote),
- New Employee Orientation (Completed online and automatically assigned to you Wednesday or Thursday of your first week via GLX. You will receive an email to your NGC account prompting you to complete the course).

- Intern Orientation (within the first week)

Returning/Converting Hires:

- Badging (if onsite), logging into the NG network using SurePassID (if remote) Intern Orientation (online)

- Your work group may also have additional business/organization orientations and relevant material for you to review.

Note: Badging needs should be confirmed with your assignment manager. Please coordinate directly with your site's badging office to schedule an appointment should you need a badge.

When will I receive my work equipment? What will it consist of?

- Onsite interns will receive equipment and badges from your Assignment Manager/local IT technician after you complete onboarding activities.
- If you have been assigned to a remote project (even with the possibility of coming onsite for a few technical tasks, meetings/briefings), your computer will be delivered to you within a few days of your start date at the address you have listed in your NG Career Profile. Please make sure your Careers Profile has the mailing address where you want the equipment delivered. Remote interns will not require badges and if you do come onsite, you will be eligible to receive a Temporary Employee badge for facility access. Remote VPN access to the network will be done using SurePass ID technology.
    - Note: You will be asked to keep all boxes you receive your hardware in for easy return at the end of your internship.
    - Note: Managers must submit a ticket for SurePassID account to be activated. If the manager forgets to do this they should contact the service center for activation.
- Please note we have a large number of interns starting and there may be a few hiccups with getting and set-up of equipment. Please be patient and keep your assignment manager well informed of any issues.

Housing and Stipends (Intern Specific)

Can we use these chats to coordinate housing/transportation?

- Absolutely! These chats are location based so you are welcome to reach out to those within your group to coordinate housing and create separate chat groups with those interested in sharing information. Please note that Northrop Grumman will not give recommendations for housing options in your area.

Am I responsible for finding my own housing?

- Yes, you are responsible for finding your own housing for the duration of the internship. Northrop Grumman does not negotiate rental agreements.
- If your work assignment requires that you will work onsite, it is your responsibility to make housing and travel arrangements.

Do I need to make my own travel arrangements to my internship location, as well as daily travel arrangements from my housing to the internship site?

- You are responsible for securing all transportation related to your internship.

When should I start looking for housing?

- It is recommended that interns begin looking at housing options as soon as their virtual/remote work status and location are confirmed by their recruiter, as some locations have limited housing availability

Will I receive my stipend if I am working virtually?

- Stipends are intended for those who do not live near their work facility and whose assignment require them to be onsite. Your recruiter will be able to determine if you qualify for a stipend once remote work/onsite work has been determined.

What if I no longer feel comfortable relocating for my internship?

- Please share your concerns with your sector's intern team via the appropriate intern mailbox listed in the "Other Important POC's" section. We've attempted to identify remote work assignments to the best of our ability but some of our work does require onsite delivery. In some cases there may or may not be flexibility available.

What happens if I already paid for my housing but now don't need to relocate because my work is remote. Can I still relocate and come onsite?

- All work will be onsite unless told otherwise. If you do have a remote assignment, some remote work may still have an opportunity to come into the office for some technical tasking. Please reach out to your recruiter to discuss the appropriate course of action, or if you have any questions/concerns.

Connecting with Management, Work Assignments, and Schedules

How do I get in contact with my manager?

Your assignment manager will reach out to you about two weeks to a month prior to your start date for your internship. They will give you additional day 1 instructions and any other pertinent information.

When will I learn more about my specific role?

- Due to shifts in program need and role availability, your specific role, program and assignment manager may not be determined until closer to your start date, typically one month in advance of onboarding. Taking into account your degree(s) and skillsets, the management team will work to best align available opportunities and business needs with your background and experience.

What is a typical work schedule?

- Your business hours will be determined in partnership with your Assignment Manager upon your onboarding.

What is the 9/80 schedule and can interns participate?

- 9/80 schedule is a flexible work arrangement in which 80 hours are worked in nine days, with every other Friday off. Your participation in a 9/80 flexible work arrangement will depend on your sector, which program you support, as well as require approval from your Assignment Manager.

When will I know about my virtual or onsite work status?

- All work will be onsite unless told otherwise. Please speak with your recruiter if you have any questions or concerns.

What measures are in place to ensure my health/safety?

Northrop Grumman has teams across the enterprise dedicated to the safety of our workspaces. We are taking many measures to keep our employees safe at work. The Daily Checklist applies for coming on-site as well as for any external Company-hosted events. Employees should not come on-site or to an event if they are symptomatic and they are not yet eligible to return to work according to the FAQs.

Other Important POC's (Recruiter, Onboarding, Early Careers Advisor)

If I have general questions, who should I reach out to?

- If you have general questions surrounding your internship, reach out to your recruiter listed at the bottom of your offer letter. Please consult your Northrop Grumman Intern Welcome Packet for more information on how to direct specific questions.

Who should I contact for questions about my background investigation, drug test, and preemployment paperwork?

- Reach out to your Sector's Onboarding team. Your sector will be listed on your offer letter.
  - Aeronautics Systems: ASPP@ngc.com
  - Defense Systems and Corporate Employees: TCPP@ngc.com ○ Mission Systems: MSPP@ngc.com
  - Space Systems: SPPP@ngc.com

How do I know who my recruiter is/how do I contact them?

- You can find your recruiter listed at the bottom of your offer letter. If you cannot get in contact with them, reach out to your sector intern email. Please allow 72 hours for a response, as recruiters are supporting multiple candidates.

For general questions about the intern program: Refer to your offer letter to identify your sector, then email your sector's Early Careers team:

- Defense Systems: DefenseSystemsUniversityRelations@ngc.com

Security Clearances

Why do I need a security clearance?

- If your position requires that you work on classified material, your manager will initiate a request for you to apply for a security clearance with the US government. Northrop Grumman will sponsor your clearance and you will be contacted by Northrop Grumman's internal security organization – Enterprise Security Shared Services (ESSS). Not all interns are submitted for clearance.

What is the status of my security clearance?

- Security Clearance information is kept very private. Contact Enterprise Security Shared Services via email at ESSS@ngc.com or call 1-855-737-8364.
- Be attentive to requests asking you to complete or update information. All requests will come via email. Please add the ESSS@ngc.com to your list of contacts to minimize the chance the email will go to your spam/junk file. Also, there are time limits with completing the application process and you do not want to have your application rejected or cancelled.
    - The application is lengthy and requires time and care. Reach out to ESSS with any questions/concerns.
    - The total investigation and adjudication process may take a year or longer.

Training and Development Opportunities

- Northrop Grumman has a culture of continuous learning and provides a variety of resources to encourage and aide its employees with their learning and development goals. While there may be some required training that you will complete during your work hours, you may be able to take advantage of NG's learning resources on your personal time.

What plans are in place for summer intern virtual programming?

Our intern professional development programming will be a mix of virtual and in-person events (depending on the site) and will include (but not limited to):

- Grow1NG U series with tech talks and soft skill topics
- Employee panel discussions

- Career Coaching by Early Career Advisors

Culture, Environment, Benefits

What is the dress code?

- Most Northrop Grumman offices observe a business casual dress code; please check with your manager for additional questions.

As an intern, do I qualify for benefits?

- While interns do not qualify for medical benefits, you will qualify for some benefits, including participation in a 401(k) retirement savings plan, Employee Resource Groups, employee discounts and some paid holidays. Paid Sick Time (PST) is also available for interns working in the following states, Arizona, California, Colorado (beginning 1/1/2021), District of Columbia (D.C.), Illinois, Maryland, Massachusetts, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Vermont, and Washington USHR 3-41.
